Welcome to Italy!

Italy is a small country situated in southern Europe and is just over 300,000 square kilometres in area. Compare this to Australia which is approximately 7,700,000 square kilometres and you will soon realise that Italy is not very big at all. However, Italy has a population of approximately 58 million people compared to Australia’s 18.5 million people.

What is Italy’s approximate population? ____________