Real Training for Real Jobs

MANSFIELD ARMCHAIR CINEMA

FINALIST - 2017 SMALL EMPLOYER OF THE YEAR

Cinema screening success for local training

Settle down with your popcorn for a movie at Mansfield Armchair Cinema (MAC) and more than likely you will be in the capable hands of Mansfield Secondary College students.

The not-for-profit community-based cinema is providing local students with the opportunity to gain skills and experience in cinema through school-based apprenticeships. The students are trained to operate the technical side of the cinema, as well as training in hospitality and the business management skills.

The story began in 2006 when Mansfield's Star Cinema closed. Worried at losing such an important community asset, local couple James and Catriona Wilson established a not-for-profit community cinema that would employ and train local students. Collaborating with Mansfield Secondary College and Goulburn Ovens Institute of TAFE, as well as other community stakeholders, the MAC opened in May 2009.

In another unique twist, MAC started offering selected Mansfield Secondary College students a traineeship program combining Certificate III in Media Studies and on-the-job training at MAC, in partnership with the school and TAFE.

Six students are selected to undertake the school-based apprenticeship every two years, and at the end of their apprenticeship, they receive a Certificate III in Media through Goulburn Ovens Institute of TAFE and an additional 10% to their total VCE Score, offering the students a great head start in life.

Cut to Mansfield Secondary College principal Bruce McInnes who says: "The MAC also provides our students with a unique awareness of the demands and expectations of a workplace that could never be replicated within the confines of a classroom."

"The Victorian Training Awards is important for small business like ours as it recognises the efforts that we have put in to our unique business model. Employing school based apprentices has been a cornerstone of our success so just being nominated has a massive impact on our employee engagement."
