Education Week toolkit

This year's Education Week will run from 23-29 May with the theme 'Building Connections'.

Background

Now in its 77th year, Education Week aims to positively profile and celebrate the strengths and achievements of Victoria's government education sector.

The theme celebrates the connections between schools and local communities and strengthens bonds with families and carers.

Education Week is an opportunity for all primary and secondary schools, higher education and early childhood services to showcase how they are building connections with the community around them.

Key messages

Schools

- Through 'Building Connections', we focus on engaging with families, the community, and other schools that can support us to achieve our goals for students both those in our school and at the school down the road.
- 'Building Connections' recognises that when schools, families, and community groups come together to support learning, it provides a richer and more diverse learning experience for students.

• Schools are embedded within communities – schools can strengthen community cohesion, and communities can help to improve student learning within and beyond school.

Higher education and skills

- Through strong community partnerships, students can engage in the world of work, building different pathways and social networks. These help to create smooth transitions into further education, training, and employment.
- 'Building Connections' recognises TAFEs as a community hub, where other key parts of the community can come together to provide diverse types of learning through partnerships with organisations for employment and training.
- The connection between family, community, and TAFEs facilitates transitions, leading to an environment that supports student success.

Early childhood services

- The theme highlights how community connections can help children to develop social and other skills.
- Community connections include extended family, friends and local community organisations – all can have a part in a child's development.

How you can celebrate

- Sharing the toolkit materials with the community
- Using the hashtag #edweekvic when posting on social media, and tagging @DETVic on Twitter and @Department of Education and Training, Victoria on LinkedIn
- Directing people to the Education Week 2021 website
- Hosting a school activity or event during Education Week that supports the theme, 'Building Connections'. For example, hold a school assembly, decorate classrooms and learning spaces, or invite community organisations to speak at your school.
- Hosting an activity at your kindergarten that inspires little learners to get curious about 'Building Connections' through play-based learning.

- Sharing a story about how your TAFE is a critical part of building connections with community in your local area.
- Sharing a story about how community organisations are helping TAFE students with employment and training and building future success.
- Inviting parents, carers and the wider community to your school open day.
- Participating in activities offered by your local, not-forprofit organisations. Use the school tool kit and resources available on the Education Week 2021 website to help you plan Education Week activities and build excitement in your school for the activity you are hosting.
