Three-Year-Old Kindergarten

To dream big, our kids need the best start in life

Education and Training

The Victorian Government is investing almost $5 billion over a decade to introduce universal funded Three-Year-Old Kindergarten – and it's now available across the state.

This means another year of learning, growing, playing and making friends for Victorian children.

Taking part in a quality kindergarten program from the age of three boosts children's learning, development, health and wellbeing outcomes.

Young children learn about the world around them through play

Play-based learning is how young children learn best. It gives children the opportunity to use their imagination, build their language skills and learn about numbers and patterns. They also learn how to get along with others, share, listen and manage their emotions.

Children in Victoria have access to two years of funded Kindergarten

Children across the state will benefit from 2022 onwards with access to at least five hours of a funded kindergarten program each week. The hours will increase to 15 hours a week by 2029.

No matter where your child goes to kindergarten, teachers and trained educators will lead the program

Children can attend a kindergarten program at either a long day care (childcare) service or at a standalone kindergarten.

Education and Care

Long Day Care services offer early childhood education and care for children aged between 0 and 6 years

All funded kindergarten programs must meet government safety and quality guidelines and are developed in line with the Victorian Early Years Learning and Development Framework.

A long day care centre can offer a full day of education and care, including a kindergarten program. The teacher-led kindergarten program is integrated with additional hours of education and care. At a standalone service, each kindergarten group will be timetabled to run on certain days and at specific times. These days and hours are set by the kindergarten service.

Deciding where to send your child might depend on which services are available in your community, and what works best for your family and child

When to start universal funded Three-Year-Old Kindergarten

Most services have an enrolment process that opens the year before a child starts a kindergarten program, so you should think about enrolling when your child turns two years old.

Families and carers with children born between January and April can choose which year to start universal funded Three-Year-Old Kindergarten. Families might choose for their children to attend the following year to align with school starting age, while other children will be two years old at the start of their Three-Year-Old Kindergarten year. Children born between 1 January and 30 April are eligible to attend Three-Year-Old Kindergarten in either the year they turn three or the year they turn four.

Children may not be able to attend until they turn three in programs where the service is unable to meet the educator to child ratio for children who are two years of age. Children born between 1 May and 31 December are only eligible to attend Three-Year-Old Kindergarten in the year they turn four and Four-Year-Old Kindergarten in the year they turn five.
