

Victorian Employer Satisfaction and Skills Survey 2017

Southern Metro

Over 12,100 employers responded to the training and skills component of the Victorian Employer Satisfaction and Skills Survey in 2017. Of these, 2,226 were from the Southern Metro region. Employers report that skills are important to productivity, but many are facing challenges filling jobs and finding the right applicants with the right skills. These challenges are faced both now, and are expected to continue into the future. However, a high proportion of employers that access training to improve the skills of their workforce report a positive impact on productivity and return on investment. The statistics below reflect the experience of employers from the Southern Metro region compared to the overall Victorian average.

Skills are important to productivity

Businesses found that a lack of skills had a medium impact on workplace productivity.

Impact of insufficient workforce skills

A lack of skills can increase the workload for other staff; result in an inability to meet customer needs and affect operating costs.

■ Southern Metro Region ■ Victoria

Managing the skills of the workforce

Employers reported that recruitment was challenging due to candidates not having the required skills or being job ready.

More than a quarter of employers saw the need to improve the skills of existing staff.

Recruitment challenges

Employers faced recruitment challenges because potential candidates did not have the required experience and lacked job specific skills.

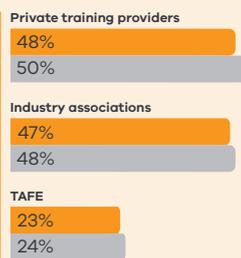

■ Southern Metro Region ■ Victoria

Employers' access to training

Employers supported staff training in 2016

Employers mainly used private training providers and industry associations to deliver their training in 2016.

Training contribution and quality

Employers find that training has a positive contribution to productivity and business success.

■ Southern Metro Region ■ Victoria

Skills needed now and for the future

Main skills lacking today and in the next 12 months

Two thirds of employers identify technical and job specific skills are needed or will be lacking in the next 12 months.

■ Southern Metro Region ■ Victoria