Welcome to DET

Welcome to the Department of Education and Training (DET). We are delighted to have you join us as a VPS employee.

There is a range of material and guidance available to help new starters understand DET’s priorities and values, familiarise themselves with DET’s policies and procedures and easily transition into their new role and responsibilities.

This document contains hyperlinks to important information. If you have received a hardcopy of this document you can access a soft copy in the Induction and Orientation on HR Web: www.education.vic.gov.au/hrweb/workm/Pages/Induction.aspx.

Induction and on-boarding material is co-ordinated by the People and Culture Branch. Please send any feedback or suggestions to staffdevelopment@edumail.vic.gov.au.
DET INDUCTION

The DET Induction consists of the following elements:

1. LearnEd online induction: will provide you with an overview of our organisation, working at DET and our various office locations.
2. Orientation session: A half-day orientation session (held every two months) provides you with the opportunity to hear from the Department’s leaders, learn about our values and meet other new starters.
3. Training: Completing compulsory eLearning modules to ensure you understand your obligations as a member of the Victorian Public Service.
4. Policies and procedures: Familiarising yourself with key policies and procedures to ensure you understand your obligations as a member of DET.
5. Role-based induction: DET subscribes to the Experience (70), Exposure (20) and Education (10) and development whereby majority of learning is acquired through on-the-job experiences. Informal on-the-job learning is an important part of the induction process. This usually includes meeting colleagues and key stakeholders and clarifying your role and the responsibilities associated with your position. This process will assist you in developing a Performance and Development Process (PDP) plan during your first month at DET.

Orientation Sessions

DET provides a half-day orientation session each quarter for VPS employees who have commenced at DET within the last three months. Details of these are available on LearnEd, the Department’s learning management system.
Training

DET requires you to undertake the following online training which you can find on LearnEd. Each session takes approximately 30 minutes. Please complete this training within your first week at DET:

- Understanding DET's Values
- Information Privacy
- Knowledge and Records Management

You should complete the following online modules in weeks two to four:

- Respectful workplaces
- Addressing workplace bullying
- Equal opportunities
- Human Rights and Responsibilities
- Sexual Harrassment
- Risk Management. This module is hosted on ELMO and a link with login details are available on the Risk Management training page.

As a new employee you will be allocated the following OHS eLearning modules:

- OHS for New Employees
- Emergency Management
- Hazard and Incident Reporting
- Ergonomics
- Slips, Trips and Falls
- Manual Handling

You will receive an email with username and details for accessing the Occupational Health and Safety (OHS) eLearning modules within 3 months of starting at DET. This email will include details of the timelines in which you are expected to complete these modules.

Our Organisation

OUR DEPARTMENT

DET leads the delivery of education and development services to children, young people and adults, from birth to lifelong learning. We have a key role in shaping the lives of Victorians and the future of the state.

We support Ministers across two portfolios – Education and Higher Education, Training and Skills, reflecting DET's role in providing lifelong learning.

Our Department employs a significant workforce of around 60,100 staff, the vast majority are in the teaching service (57,640). Our non-school based staff are located in the central offices and across our four regions.

The following seven groups support DET's delivery of lifelong learning to all Victorians:

- Policy, Strategy and Performance (PSP)
- Early Childhood Education (ECE)
- School Education Programs and Support (SEPS)
- Higher Education and Skills Group (HESG)
- Regional Services Group (RSG).

The delivery of our services is managed by four regions (we have about 20 area offices) offices that provide learning, development, health and wellbeing support and services to children and young people through partnerships with funded early childhood services, DET's schools, vocational education and training providers and Learn Local organisations.

MAKING VICTORIA THE EDUCATION STATE

The Victorian Government has invested $10.8 billion across the education portfolios to make Victoria the Education State, improving outcomes for children, young people and adult learners across our State.

For schools, the Education State means building a system that provides every student with the knowledge, capabilities and attributes that will see them thrive throughout their lives, to have the skills that industry needs, and that employers expect.

The Education State will improve outcomes for all students, regardless of their start in life, promoting foundational learning domains such as reading, mathematics and science, alongside other important areas, such as critical thinking, the arts, physical education and resilience.

Building excellence and equity in equal measure means that all students will have access to the same quality education, regardless of their background or circumstance. The Education State in Schools initiatives include changes to school funding that allow schools to invest in targeted programs and focus on the things that we know will make a difference to student outcomes.

The Victorian Government is working hard, in the first years of the Education State, to put the foundations in place so that we see positive change for students.

This is a once-in-a-generation opportunity to build a future where Victoria is recognised nationally and internationally for the skills, knowledge, and expertise of its people.

Education State targets

Our ambitious Education State school targets focus our efforts on the things that promote excellence across the curriculum, the health and wellbeing of students and break the link between disadvantage and student outcomes.

These targets reflect our ambition to improve student outcomes:

- Learning for Life More students achieving excellence in reading, maths, science, critical and creative thinking and the arts.
- Happy, Healthy and Resilient Kids Building the resilience of our children, and encouraging them to be more physically active.
- Breaking the Link Ensuring more students stay in school and breaking the link between disadvantage and outcomes for students.
- Pride and Confidence in our Schools Making sure every community has access to excellence, in every government school and classroom.

You can find more information on the Education State internet page.
Our Organisational Structure

DET is structured with seven central groups and four regions and also works in conjunction with a number of statutory bodies. You can find more information on the Structure HRWeb page regarding the organisational along with the organisational chart. The Groups and Divisions intranet page provides information about the Groups and Divisions.

EXECUTIVE ROUND-UP

The Executive Round-Up is held every week and is as an opportunity for all Executive Officers to regularly meet and share information.
Our Culture

DET VALUES

The Public Administration Act 2004 establishes values to guide conduct and performance in the Victorian Public Sector. The Public Sector Values and Code of Conduct for Victorian Public Sector Employees provide the foundation for integrity and accountability for all public sector employees. The values define what is important to our organisation and how things will be done. As Victorian public sector employees, the values underpin all of our interactions with the government, community, suppliers and other employees.

DET has adopted the Public Sector Values. You can access more information about on the Department’s Values page.

WORKING WITH INTEGRITY

Integrity is the capstone value of the Victorian Public Sector Values. Each of the Victorian Public Sector Values (responsiveness, impartiality, accountability, leadership and human rights) is an integral aspect of working with integrity.

Integrity is about being responsive, always acting without bias, respecting your colleagues and working well with them. More than being accountable, it’s about being responsible for your actions and doing the right thing, always.

The privilege of serving the public comes with high standards of ethical conduct that exceed those in the private sector. The community rightly expects all DET staff to demonstrate these standards. Behaving with integrity also requires us to speak up. This means:

- calling out bad behaviour
- engaging in discussions with your colleagues
- being open to different and diverse views and being willing to speak about behaviours, our values and the impact they have on our culture.
To assist all staff (including contractors) work with integrity, the Department has developed an ethical decision-making guide.

RAISING CONCERNS AT DET

All staff should feel safe and confident to raise concerns, issues, complaints and provide feedback about their workplace.

Employees who want to raise a concern or make a complaint should speak to an appropriate manager or principal first. This is the best way to reach a quick resolution. You should expect your manager to be responsive and manage your concerns fairly, respectfully, transparently and in a timely way.

Otherwise, employees can:

- Approach their manager's manager or their regional office
- Obtain more information about lodging a formal grievance about employment decisions or actions, including appointments or leave, to the Merit Protection Board
- Seek advice on raising concerns about unprofessional conduct from the Employee Conduct Branch
- Report suspected fraud, corruption and serious conflicts of interest (e.g. on contracts) to the Department's Speak Up service by:
  - Phone: 1800 633 462
  - Web: www.talkintegrity.com/det
  - Email: educationspeakup@pkf.com.au

RESPECTFUL WORKPLACES

DET is committed to, and responsible for, providing workplaces that are healthy, safe and inclusive, and free from bullying, harassment, and discrimination. A respectful workplace culture, underpinned by the Victorian Public Sector values, is fundamental to the way we operate. We all have the right to be treated with respect and work in a respectful workplace. This also means that we all have the responsibility to act respectfully, and treat our colleagues with consideration.

A respectful workplace:

- is inclusive and values diversity
- communicates clear expectations
- promotes health, wellbeing and safety
- deals constructively with conflict
- strives for improvement, and
- has open channels of communication.

DET's Respectful Workplaces HR Web page contains resources and links to eLearning modules covering Respectful Workplaces, Equal Opportunity and Addressing Workplace Bullying. There are also links to DET’s HR policies and procedures and additional support.

OUR LEADERSHIP COMMITMENT

Leadership is critical to achieving DET’s reform program. It is through strong, ethical and authentic leadership that cultural change will be achieved, and the foundation laid for building our organisational capability. All our executive officers have committed to the DET’s Leadership Charter, launched in December 2015.

The Leadership Charter sets out our leaders' shared commitment to living the values and modelling the behaviours DET needs to realise its Strategic Intent and the required Leadership Capabilities.

DET encourages self-leadership at all levels. The charter guides how DET leaders work, make decisions, form relationships and bring out the best in staff, and is critical to lifting organisational performance.

DET encourages every employee to strive towards achieving their leadership capabilities. This Leadership at DET guide provides information on leadership development, practice and staff engagement. You can access further information on the Leadership Charter and Capabilities page.

Encouraging leadership in others: “leadership at all levels”.

What this means: (self leadership)

The concept of leadership applies to all roles and levels, regardless of formal roles. Self-leadership is important being proactive, taking ownership and accountability, role-model the desired behaviours, and building personal resilience.

The expectations for DET’s formal leaders are contained within DET’s Leadership Charter and Leadership Capability Framework. “Leadership at all levels” defines, more broadly, the general expectations for all staff.

The qualities of self-leadership are those interpersonal behaviours expected of everyone, regardless of role or level—they are shared across the organisation.

“Leadership at all levels” can be supported through performance reviews with formal feedback against defined criteria, can underpin a formal recognition programme, and reinforced through profiling “stories of success” through existing communications channels.

Our Programs and Systems

GOVERNANCE AND DECISION MAKING

Delegations and Authorisations

Statutory powers are given to individuals or bodies under specific pieces of legislation. For example, the Department’s Secretary or Ministers are given various powers under the Education and Training Reform Act 2006, Children’s Services Act 2006, Education and Care Services National Law, Public Administration Act 2004 and Financial Management Act 1994.

Delegations and authorisations are the formal process by which statutory powers and functions are passed from an office holder to a department employee or officer. This occurs to ensure efficient workflows and clear lines of accountability. DET’s management of delegations and authorisations is fundamental to ensure departmental employees make lawful decisions and take lawful actions.

It is important that DET employees are confident that any power that they exercise has been properly given to them under a valid delegation or authorisation before they use those powers.

There are three ways in which statutory powers can be given to DET employees:

1. By delegation. When expressly permitted by the relevant legislation, a power, duty or function may be delegated to another office holder or authority (the delegate). This will most commonly take the form of a written instrument of delegation, and the delegate will exercise the power in their own name and position (i.e. the delegate is accountable for decisions they make).
2. By express authorisation. Similar to a delegation, some legislation provides for the appointment of ‘authorised officers’ who exercise powers in their own right (i.e. authorised officers are accountable for decisions they make). These appointments are usually made by a particular office holder named in the legislation, such as the Minister or the Secretary.
3. By implied authorisation. When the express powers to delegate or authorise described above are not available, the Minister, Secretary or other authority may authorise an official to exercise a statutory power on their behalf. This will generally occur in the case of day-to-day administrative functions for reasons of practicality and the power is exercised for and behalf of the holder of the statutory power (i.e. the Minister or Secretary).

The Delegations and Authorisations Policy, which sets out the framework and procedures for managing the delegation of authority within DET, can be found on the Delegations and Authorisations Policy page. You may also want to review the Register of all Delegations and Authorisations.

The Department also provides the following Delegations and Authorisations training:

1. The Legal Division conducts face to face training upon request. To organise, please contact Wendy Tabor (A/Director, Legislation Governance and Regulatory Reform Branch, Legal Division) on x 73143 or at tabor.wendy.w@edumail.vic.gov.au.

PERFORMANCE AND DEVELOPMENT PLANS

Each employee is responsible for developing their own performance and development plan (PDP). The PDP is based on a 12 month cycle.

The PDP cycle has three major milestones:

1. Planning; includes developing key deliverables, progression criteria, DET’s Values, a career plan and an individual development plan which is recorded in the PDP (generally August).
2. Mid-cycle review; includes a meeting between the employee and manager to discuss progress to date and to review, adjust or revise the PDP as necessary (generally December / January).
3. End of cycle review; includes the mandatory review of the employee’s performance based on the agreed PDP (generally June/July).

Employees should meet with their manager on a regular basis to discuss their performance and development needs. Specific milestones of the PDP are regularly communicated to staff by email during the cycle.
